French Approve Blum's Program To Aid Finances

Parliamentary Passage of Cabinet's Actions Held Unlikely—Maybe Blum's Waterloo, Observers Feel

Revalue Gold

Would Centralize All Foreign Exchange Dealings, Tax Holdings, Postpone Debts

Paris, April 4 (AP)—The cabinet, with President Albert Lebrun presiding, today gave formal approval to Premier Leon Blum's sweeping financial proposals, which financiers interpreted to include a measure of foreign exchange control and revaluation of the franc.

Parliament's approval, however, was considered highly doubtful. Reflecting a widespread feeling that the Socialist Premier's program would lead to his Waterloo, the franc strengthened in official dealings on the Bourse. It closed at 32.21 to the dollar, as compared with Friday's official closing of 32.71.

Most important of the proposals were:

Centralization of all dealings in foreign exchange in the Bank of France with a requirement that documentary evidence must be produced of the necessity for any purchase or sale of foreign currencies before authorization is given; financial experts said this would be virtual exchange control, a thing successive People's Front governments thus far have avoided

Revaluation of the gold stock of the Bank of France at its "actual value," which experts said could open the way to a new devaluation of the franc.

Capital Tax

An "extraordinary tax" on capital holdings, such as bank accounts, stocks and bonds.

A two-year moratorium on public debt payments; this was considered one of the boldest measures proposed.

Financial circles said the strengthening of the franc showed belief the Socialist premier soon would fall and his government would be replaced by a "public safety" cabinet with wide support in Parliament.

The Blum proposals were listed in detail by an official summary, but the premier announced he would ask Parliament to vote one brief bill giving the government powers until July 1, 1938, to "take the measures it judges indispensable" by decree to follow the broad program approved by the cabinet.

The decrees would have to be submitted to Parliament for ratification not later than December 31, 1938.

No Comment

Official spokesmen declined to comment on possible effects of the foreign exchange proposal on the three-power monetary accord France made with the United States and Britain October 12, 1936.

The official announcement made no reference to exchange control as such, but financial experts said that certainly would be the effect of the proposal, expressed in the official summary as:

"Centralization of exchange operations by the Banw of France for purposes of surveillance, involving requirements of proofs substantiating commercial needs."

The cabinet's approval actually was given twice, first in an ordinary cabinet session, then as the council of ministers meeting with the president of the republic.

Blum's program was believed

German-American Clubs Fight Nazis

Newark, N. J., April 4 (AP)—Representatives of German-American clubs in eight states were joined today in a drive to "counteract Nazi propaganda in the United States."

Convened here last night, delegates of 15 clubs in the nation said cooperation in the drive would be asked of veteran, patriotic, religious and other groups.

Americans were urged by the group, the Federation of German-American Clubs, to "eliminate all side issues from the fundamental thesis of sound democracy versus criminally unsound Fascism."

Reports were heard from clubs in St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, Hoboken, Passaic, Paterson, Newark, and New York, and a special convention was set for September, probably in Milwaukee.

George Tieland of New York was elected president and vice-president; and Albert Tilger of Astoria, L. I., secretary of a minority committee to work with peoples of the Danubian nations.

Anniversary Week For Dr. Seeley Ends At Service Sunday

Forty Years' Pastorate Is Occasion of Celebration to Honor Fair Street Reformed Pastor

A service of praise commemorating the 40 years' pastorate of Dr. Frank B. Seeley at the Fair Street Reformed Church, yesterday concluded a week of observance of that event. At the morning service the church was filled with members of the church, their friends and friends of Dr. and Mrs. Seeley from various other denominations in the city and locality. Participating in the service were the Rev. Ernest R. Palen, of the Middle Collegiate Church of New York; the Rev. James Cantine, D. D., who incidentally will observe the 50th anniversary of his ordination as a missionary next November, and the Rev. Theodore F. Bayles, D. D. of New Brunswick Seminary, all personal friends of Dr. Seeley.

The Rev. Ernest Palen presided at the services and before presenting Dr. Bayles he called attention to the fact that while the official church program indicated that Dr. Seeley had served the church first on April 2, 1898, that this was an error, and basing his statement upon an entry in a diary he said that from Dr. Bayles he learned that it was on April 3, 1898, that Dr. Seeley entered upon his pastorial duties at the church. This was exactly 40 years ago to a day and the ceremonies Sunday marked the exact date of the anniversary.

Dr. Cantine's Service.

The Fair Street Reformed Church next November will mark the half century anniversary of the ordination of Dr. Cantine as a missionary. Mr. Palen called attention to the fact that it was from the Fair Street Church that Dr. Cantine went forth after his ordination here on his long and honored service as a missionary to Arabia. The congregation was honored Sunday by the presence of Dr. Cantine, a lifelong friend of Dr. Seeley, who led in prayer.

The sermon of Dr. Bayles was prefaced with brief remarks commending the work of Dr. Seeley, work which he said was not confined to the services to his church and his congregation, but which was wider in its scope. Dr. Bayles told of services which had been given so freely to Protestant, Jew and Catholic without regard for denomination if a service to humanity could be rendered. He referred to the love in which Dr. Seeley was held in the community and the county and cited instances where he had given of his time and effort to aid unfortunate people without regard to their church affliation.

Dr. Bayles was presented to the congregation by Dr. Seeley as a boyhood friend, a friend whom he had esteemed since the days 50 years ago when they were school chums at old Delhi Academy in Delhi.

Happenings Recounted

Recounting the happenings since those days a half century ago, Dr. Bayles told of his observations of Dr. Seeley's work. He spoke of the great esteem in which he had held Dr. Seeley's father, who had been pastor of

Oil Before Court

Foreign Interests in Mexico Turn to Supreme Court for Settlement of the Case

Mexico City, April 4 (AP)—Foreign oil companies turned to the Supreme Court today in a last legal effort to recover expropriated Mexican oil holdings valued at more than $100,000,000.

The 17 United States and British-owned companies built their appeal to the Supreme Court on the contention that President Cardenas' expropriation decree of March 19 violated the Mexican constitution.

They planned to ask the court to declare President Cardenas' expropriation decree unconstitutional.

The companies argue that article 27 of the constitution authorizes only the expropriation of lands and waters in carrying out the nation's program of socialization; not personal property such as tools, plants and equipment.

Furthermore, they allege that the companies were deprived of their properties, possessions and rights without due process before the courts and that no indemnification was paid at the time of expropriation.

Airport Fire Causes $700,000 Damage

A fire of undetermined origin razed the No. 1 hangar at the Municipal Airport in Miami, Fla., destroyed 14 planes and caused a loss estimated at $700,000. Smoke is shown pouring from the wreckage of what were said to be some of the nation's finest private planes.

Veterans' Bureau Now Exempt From Reorganization

House Opponents Win New Victory From Administration Leaders, Who Accept Amendment

Washington, April 4 (AP)—House opponents of the government reorganization bill won a new concession from administration leaders today when they agreed to an amendment exempting the veterans' administration from any merger.

Representative Warren (D-NC), author of the general reorganization provisions, said he saw no objection to such an amendment and that it probably would be approved.

Chairman Cochran (D-Mo) of the reorganization committee said he would not oppose it.

A member of the House veterans' committee, Representative Griswold (D-Ind), said demands for exemption of the veterans' administration were based on fears that it might be placed in a proposed new department of welfare and "put in a test tube on a shelf."

Representative Dempsey (D-NM) said proposed changes to prohibit federal control of education and to empower Congress to vote on departmental changes by the chief executive did not go far enough.

"That does not mean we have lack of confidence in the President," Dempsey declared "nor do we question his sincerity of purpose.

"We do, however, view with deep concern and will strenuously oppose any further infringement on the powers constitutionally delegated to the Congress as the direct representatives of the people of the nation."

Administration leaders expressed confidence, however, that the concessions made had assured House approval of the measure.

At an unusual Sunday conference they won President Roosevelt's tacit approval of two amendments, which had been hastily advanced when a coalition of Republicans and dissenting Democrats appeared to be getting the upper hand.

Representative Sam Rayburn of Texas, Democratic floor leader, said that as far as he knew the administration forces expected to "stand pat" on two other controversial provisions — substitution of a single civil service administrator and creation of an auditor general.

The House chieftains expressed the belief their original modifications would sap enough of the opponents' strength to make approval of the bill possible within a few days.

Even the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Michigan radio priest, who repeatedly has assailed the measure, conceded it now would pass.

Communism Greatest Enemy, Says Speaker At K. of C. Breakfast

Judge Cunningham Tells Breakfast Group Fascism Will Die With Communism

"The greatest enemy in the world today is Communism; destroy it and Fascism will die," declared Judge William D. Cunningham of Scarsdale, speaking at the annual Communion breakfast of the Knights of Columbus at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Sunday morning. The judge scored the League Against War and Fascism as a Communistic organization, and said that the aim of Communism was to have America disarm.

The Rev. Benjamin C. Roth, of St. Mary's Church, chaplain of the order, spoke on "The Tyranny of the Fixed Idea" and District Deputy John C. Mahoney also spoke briefly. Grand Knight Joseph Murphy, of Kingston Council, presided as toastmaster.

The breakfast followed an 8 o'clock Mass in the Church of the Immaculate Conception by the Rev. Stanislaus Malinowski, a member of the council.

Judge Cunningham, the principal speaker at the breakfast, is a former district attorney of Ulster county, and for 35 years has been a member of Kingston Council. In opening his remarks he said that he was glad to be back in Kingston and meet again such a large number of his old friends. He said that he desired to speak on Catholic opinion and what power and influence it exerted, if any, on affairs in the world at large and at home.

Says France Red.

"France," he said, is red to the core and is still engulfed in the spirit of the French revolution from which she had never fully recovered. Russia is trying to drive Christ and His adherents back to the catacombs. She is committed to a denial of God. Germany, while essentially a Christian country, was now adopting a policy to deny God.

"Then there are some who say we should not get all excited about Communism, but I tell you there is nothing else to talk about in the world today than Communism. No part of the world is free; it is fundamental.

"Nations of the world are tumbling over one another to adopt either Communism or Fascism. Democratic governments are tumbling over to accept one or the other. New Mexico is coming out into the open and opening avowing social communism.

"What is Fascism? It is a negative proposition, a negative philosophy. It was conceived on

Governor Vetoes Bill to Charge for Use of Campsites

Albany, Apr. 3 (Special)—Veto of the Leahy-Feinberg bill authorizing the State Conservation Commissioner to charge fees for use of public camp sites in the Adirondack and Catskill parks, has been announced by Governor Herbert H. Lehman.

The measure, sponsored by Assemblyman Thomas A. Leahy, Republican, of Lake Placid, and Senator Benjamin F. Feinberg, Republican, of Platlburg, was disapproved upon request of Conservation Lithgow Osborne.

Commissioner's Letter

In a letter to Governor Lehman, requesting veto of the bill, Commissioner Osborne said:

"This bill would require the conservation commissioner to collect a fee for the use of public camp sites in the state forest preserve in the Adirondack and Catskill parks and the bill defines 'a public camp site' as 'a site on and for which the state shall have constructed and shall maintain a fireplace and any other improvements or conveniences adapted to camping purposes.'

"In the first place, the Department is opposed to the imposition of a fee for camping at the public camp sites created by the Department in the forest preserve, because one of the primary reasons in establishing these camp sites was to concentrate camping within certain developed areas where the land occupied by campers would be surrounded with a fire line and where sanitary facilities could be provided and a caretaker placed in charge. In this way, it has been possible to reduce, and in fact almost to eliminate any forest fire hazard due to such camping, at the same time avoiding the creation of unsanitary conditions through pollution of streams.

"If a charge is to be imposed for the use of these camp sites, campers, especially those who have been accustomed to free use of the camp sites for a period of 18 years, will resent it and will camp on undeveloped sites, thus increasing the fire hazard tremendously. On account of the vast area, well over two million acres of the forest preserve, it would be impossible with the present force of the forest rangers, or with any reasonable force of rangers, to prevent this.

"The definition of 'a public camp site' contained in the bill would require the department to make charges for use of all isolated open camps and lean-tos which have been provided for

Heroic Efforts to Save Pal On Fishing Trip Fail; Two Drowned in Dual Tragedy

Edwin Hall of Ellenville Fails in Effort to Save Life of Ralph O'Neal of Napanoch Sunday

Could Not Swim

Evidence Indicates O'Neal Slipped Into Water at Honk Falls Pool

Giving his life in an unsuccessful attempt to save that of his fishing companion, Edwin Hall, 23, of Ellenville, and Ralph O'Neal, 21, of Napanoch, were victims of a double drowning accident at the deep pool just below the Honk Falls Power Co. dam, the bodies being discovered this morning after an all night search.

The two young men had left their homes Sunday morning to go fishing. When they had not returned at a late hour that night the families began worrying about them and made attempts to find out where they had gone or what had become of them.

Early this morning Samuel O'Neal, father of one of the men and a brother of Hall's, with Trooper Seymour, of Wurtsboro, who had been notified, began a systematic search. They found the car they had been driving parked near the Honk Falls Power plant. Searching along the Rondout they finally came across Hall's coat lying on the bank near the pool, which is between 25 and 35 feet deep at this time and lies at the bottom of a steep rocky cliff.

Use Grappling Hooks

It was about 7:30 when the searchers became convinced that the two young men were at the bottom of the pool and word was sent to Chief C. G. A. Fischer of the Ellenville Fire Department, who came to the scene with the department's hook and ladder truck. It took one of the 50-foot ladders to give access to the edge of the pool, after which attempts were made to reach the bottom with pike poles, but the longest one—25 feet in length—would not reach. It was only after Robert Wager, assistant superintendent at the Napanoch institution, who was among those who had joined the rescue party, had grappling hooks made at the institution and brought to the scene of the drowning that the bodies of the unfortunate young men were located and brought to shore.

Coroner Howard B. Humiston, who had been notified and who was present when the bodies were found, took the remains to the Humiston Funeral Home at Kerhonkson, certifying to accidental death by drowning. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

News of the tragedy spread rapidly, as both young men are well-known, and many residents of Ellenville and Napanoch, including members of the fire companies, men from the institution and others gathered to watch the attempts to recover the bodies and render any possible assistance

So far as can be learned there is no way of knowing just when the accident which led to the deaths of the young men occurred. It is understood, that when they started out Sunday morning they planned to fish somewhere else and, it is believed, that later they came to the section of the Rondout creek near the power house. The man in charge at the power house noticed the parked car, but paid no attention to it, as it is not unusual for cars to park there.

Could Not Swim

It is believed that O'Neal, who could not swim, was climbing up the steep rocks along the creek and above the pool when he lost his footing and plunged down into the pool. The presence of Hall's coat along the bank is taken as proof that he had gone at once to the rescue of his companion, stopping only long enough to take off the coat. Hall is said to have been a good swimmer and failure of his efforts at rescue was probably due to the fact that he was encumbered with heavy rubber boots, which he still wore when his body was taken from the water. The two men were found lying at the bottom of the pool within a couple of feet of each other.

Hall was a son of Jasper Hall, who is employed at the Napanoch Institution and lives at No. 6 Main street, Ellenville. O'Neal's father, Samuel O'Neal, is a well known and old time resident of Napanoch.

Franco's Offensive In Decisive Phase Toward Barcelona

Campaign to Cut Spain in Two Enters Its Fourth Week, Red Militia Is Endangered

Hendaye, France, at the Spanish Frontier, April 4 (AP)—Insurgent General Franco's broad offensive entered its decisive phase today, with massed armies striking down the main highway to Barcelona and the Ebro valley to the sea after having taken two immediate objectives, Lerida and Gandesa.

In the fourth week of the offensive and the 21st month of the Spanish civil war, the insurgent legions drove into the vital stronghold of the government militia. They were campaigning to cut Spain in two and capture the seat of the government, Barcelona.

General Garcia Valino's Navarrese corps and the Italian Black Arrow division moved against the village of Cherta, about six miles above Tortosa, after having pushed southeast from Gandesa yesterday.

Gen. Juan Yague's Moorish corps, after entering Lerida last night, threw out advance guards on the road to Barcelona, 80 miles to the east, while mopping up the last bitter resistance within Lerida.

With Wing Forces

On either side of these two main lines of attack, the wings of General Franco's widespread forces swept toward the Pyrenees frontier with France in the north, and towards the Mediterranean coast in the southeast, menacing Catalonia with isolation and conquest.

The government yielded Lerida, historic key to Catalonia, after terrible hand to hand fighting. It had held the besieged fortress for a full week after Franco's troops entered the province March 27.

Yague's troops, surrounding the city, faced a violent counter-attack at 6 p. m. Sunday as they proceeded with the occupation. Twenty government tanks and a body of 10,000 men advanced along the right bank of the Segre river through Lerida, and collided with the Moors and foreign legionnaires.

Rebels Hold Firm.

The insurgents held firm under the assault, pushed back the militia and took possession of the key points of the city, running up their flag in the Cathedral tower.

Insurgent tanks and armored cars rumbled through the city, shedding a blaze of machine-gun fire on houses and the winding streets where the militia still fought.

This morning, insurgent dispatches said, virtually the entire city was occupied, although some points of resistance remained, and the insurgent troops fanned out, taking villages on either side of the Barcelona highway just east of Lerida.

With the government's natural defenses crumbled down before Tortosa, the insurgents had only flank attacks from the hills and the lesser frontal resistance to face there in the march down the Ebro river valley.

The government counter-offensive on the Guadalajara and Teruel fronts see-sawed under the raids of insurgent planes, with slight progress reported against Insurgent lines.

Exodus Continues

The exodus to France of government refugees, military and civilian alike, persisted. Frontier officials said 5,440 militiamen had arrived at Bagneres De Luchon and been repatriated, 258 of them to Insurgent Spain via

Port Ewen Water System Is Moving Ahead Rapidly

The work of laying the water main for the new Port Ewen water works system is progressing rapidly and thus far the main has been practically completed along the Clay road where the supply of water is located.

At present the contractor is working south of the intersection of Clay road and route 9-W toward the southerly end of the water district where the standpipe will be located on the Black property.

When completed the system will end the 50 year search by the village for an adequate supply of water for domestic purposes. For the past half century from time to time the question of supplying the village with a common supply of water has been discussed. Various systems have been discussed, including the possibility of purchasing water from Kingston. After several test wells were sunk a supply, reported by engineers to be adequate for domestic and fire purposes, was located on the Clay road south of the village. Water will be pumped from there to a storage tank on the elevation on the Black property from where a gravity supply will flow into the village water mains. The work is being done with assistance of a PWA grant.

"Brass Hair" Now

Platinum Loses Out to Brass, Hairdressers say, and the Way Ladies, Is Up

St. Louis, April 4 (AP)—Milady's coiffure will be "custom-built" for 1938, style leaders convening here said today.

At the same time, they predicted the end of "platinum" blondes and a preponderance of "brass" hued tresses for the year.

Siani Mars, New York, president of the coiffure diviston of the National Hairdressers' and Cosmetologists' Association, led those who foresaw the new "brass" hair style.

Mars believed hair parts would be changed to run "vertically behind the ears," with the hair combed well off the face.

"The upward trend of hairdress is apparent," he added. "As for length, women will prefer about four or five inches in front, and three inches for the back."

Marc Gartman of Chicago, president of that city's association, explained the "custom-built" coiffure.

"By custom hairdressing, we mean individualized hairdressing," he said. "Beauty operators will spend more time studying their clients' hair before they begin, examining texture, natural lines of growth and determining what style best fits the face."

Anniversary Week For Dr. Seeley Ends

the Delhi Presbyterian Church, and he said that Dr. Seeley had inherited the fine characteristics of his honored father.

Since the days at Delhi, Dr. Bayles said, his path and that of Dr. Seeley had crossed infrequently but on those crossings he had found the same pleasant associations. When he came to Gardiner many years ago he learned that Dr. Seeley had been supplying that church. The work which had been done there by Dr. Seeley as a young man he said had laid a groundwork which had made his own pastorate there a very profitable one. Later on this splendid ability and earnestness for service had won for Dr. Seeley the highest honor which the church could bestow when in 1931 he was made president of the General Synod. Down through the years of service to his church Dr. Seeley's counsel had been sought and his prominence in the work of the Reformed Church of America had won for him this exceptional honor.

Dr. Bayles' sermon, based on the passage, "Love Ye One Another," pointed out that the power and influence of such love cannot be measured by any standard of measure.

During the services Mrs. A. H. Wicks, soloist, sang "O Divine Redeemer."

The services were attended by a large delegation of members from the Men's Club of the church.

Fascism vs. Communism

Fascism

Chicago, April 4 (AP)—Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, sounded a warning that "Fascism—arrogant, devoid of conscience and knowing no mercy for man, woman or child—is on the march."

Speaking at a dinner last night in commemoration of the 60th anniversary of the founding of The Jewish Daily Courier, the Secretary said, "Fascism is the deadly and insidious foe that we must prepare to combat without loss of time."

"There is danger," he said, "in crying wolf too often or at the wrong time. There is danger in creating fears of dictatorship when there is no dictatorship. If the brave efforts of a great Democratic leader to improve conditions x x x x are continually balked by false cries of dictatorship, there is the danger that our people may come to feel that economic security can be had only through a dictatorship."

Communism

Chicago, April 4 (AP)—Denouncing "tyranny" and "primitive barbarism," Gov. George H. Earle of Pennsylvania told the Chicago division of the American Jewish Congress that there was no essential difference between Communism and Fascism.

"Both are ironclad dictatorships," he said. "Both suppress free speech and the freedom of religious worship. Both have blood purges. Both substitute espionage for liberty. Both make a mockery of individual liberty."

Gov. Earle, who was minister to Austria before he was elected Governor of Pennsylvania in 1934, addressed the Congress yesterday. Another speaker was Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher and Republican vice-Presidential candidate in 1936.

Col. Knox described dictatorship as "a passing phase, the most impermanent government in the world; providing no machinery for its perpetuation."

Hendaye, and the others to Catalonia via Cebere.

Several thousand civilians were sent to concentration camps in the interior, leaving only 280 at Bagneres De Luchon, but a new influx was awaited with lifting of a storm over the Pyrenees.

While the Catalan drive swept on, Madrid, formerly the government capital, was shelled in an hour and 25 minute bombardment, the worst of the war. Between 40 and 50 persons were killed, perhaps more. About 2,000 shells fell into the city.

Every refugee militiaman to cross the border was asked by French authorities secretly to state what Spanish territory he preferred, and all but the 238 elected to return to government Spain to "fight until we die, against the Fascists."

Singing and with clenched fists held high, General Juan Gallo led the men back to the homeland from Cerbere after many visited briefly with wives and children they had not seen in months.

to face a bitter fight in both chambers of Parliament. There was some expectation the deputies would pass it, but acceptance by the Conservative Senate, which refused decree powers to Blum's first government last June, was considered most doubtful.

The first Blum cabinet fell on that issue.

The "extraordinary tax" on capital holdings would start at 4 per cent, but sums under 100,000 francs (about $3,000) would remain exempt.

Sunday the firemen from Wiltwyck station assisted members of the Cottekill and Lomontville fire departments to combat a fire that destroyed a woodshed and threatened the residence of Clifford Hicks in Marbletown.

Drunken Driver Is Fined $50 After Causing Collision

Following a rear-end collision between cars driven by Friend Sheldon of Kerhonkson and Harry Galfand of Philadelphia, Pa., about 9:50 Sunday night, in which several persons were injured although not seriously, Sam Helgerson, 44, Mettacahonts farmer, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was arraigned before Justice Fred Simpson of Accord, pleaded guilty and was fined $50. In default of the fine Helgerson was committed to the Ulster county jail for 50 days.

Answering a call to the sheriff's office Deputy Sheriffs Vredenburgh, Brown and McCullough made an investigation and later arrested Helgerson. The officers found that the accident happened when Sheldon, driving toward Ellenville, brought his car to a stop when Helgerson, who was driving north, cut directly across his path. Galfand, who was following the Sheldon car, was unable to bring his car to a stop before it crashed into the rear of the other car. The collison occurred just north of the Millard Davis farm, on Route 209. Helgerson's car, crossed the road, and ran for 115 feet in the ditch coming to a stop undamaged.

Mrs. Hansen, who was riding with Sheldon, was injured about the head and leg and was taken to the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville, for treatment.

Richard Laub, who with Norman Cherry and A. David Schultze was riding with Galfand, all being students at St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia, was treated by Dr. Feldshuh of Kerhonkson for lacerations inside his mouth and cuts on the arm and leg; he also lost several teeth. ## Boys' Activities Staged Outdoors This Saturday

The indoor program of activities of the recreation department held weekly on Saturday in the municipal auditorium were brought to a close the past Saturday, and commencing this Saturday the program of activities will be staged in five of the city parks.

The five parks that will be opened for the recreational program of the city are Hasbrouck, Forsyth, Barmann, Block and Loughran Parks. The programs in these parks will be in charge of those who have been directing the Saturday activities in the auditorium during the fall and winter months.

The Rondout Hobby House activities will be continued on Saturdays as usual, but in the uptown recreation center there will be no Saturday programs, but the center will be open the remainder of the week on regular schedule.

The reason for moving the varied activities carried on Saturdays in the auditorium to the city parks is due to the fine weather and the approach of the baseball season.

Wetterhahn and Darrow Attended Training School

Superintendent Henry Darrow and Edward Wetterhahn, cashier and assistant secretary of the water department, have returned from attending the Municipal Training Institute of New York State, held on March 30 and 31, and April 1, at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, where men noted in their various fields gave instruction in the protection of water supplies, treating of drinking water, and the distribution of water.

This training school is chartered by the Regents of the state and administered by the officers and members of the New York State Conference of Mayors.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman, who is vice president of the municipal training institute, said today that this school for various city officials was being conducted again this year, and that the attendance so far was the largest in the history of the project. Another school session will be held shortly for the treasurers and financial officers of the various cities and villages in the state. The idea back of the school is to increase the efficiency and knowledge of city officials so that municipal affairs may be more capably handled.

Speed of Large Rivers Depends Much on Depth

Most large rivers travel at only walking speed. As rivers usually have their sources on very high ground, their velocity is greatest at the beginning of their course, which is for many streams a succession of rapids and waterfalls.

The velocity of falls, which is often enormous, cannot very well be included in any estimate of the velocity of rivers, although the impetus given by rapids, as well as the general inclination of the bed of the stream, has a most important influence on the rate of its current.

But the velocity of a river does not altogether depend on the slope of its bed. Much is owing to its depth and volume, says an authority in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Most rivers, therefore, flow with varying velocity at different seasons of the year. Furthermore, bends in the course, jutting peaks of rock, or other obstacles, interfere with its speed, so that the water of a river flows at different velocities at different parts of its bed; it moves slower at the bottom than at the surface and at the sides than at the middle.

There is no stream which has a regular current of 30 miles an hour, or even 25 miles an hour. The lower Amazon flows at a rate of three miles an hour. The Mississippi, in its lower course, has a velocity of about three and a half miles an hour. The Congo has for many miles above its mouth a current of about seven miles an hour, the impetus of its great falls extending for a great distance below them. The Nile, similarly influenced, moves for a long distance at nine miles an hour.

Probably the most rapid river in the world, with the exception of some small streams which are nearly torrents or cataracts, is the River Rhone, in France. At some seasons the current of this stream reaches a speed of 40 miles an hour. In the dryer season, however, it drops to a rate of six miles an hour.

Rice Culture in South Result of an Accident

It is regarded as a special virtue to share one's rice in India, and the wasting of even a single grain is a sin in thickly settled districts where poverty is great and food is scarce. Fortunately, it is more expensive to eat polished rice than to leave on the outer coating, because the latter contains food elements that prevent beri-beri, a disease suffered by those whose diet is almost exclusively polished, writes Martha Harmon in the Philadelphia Record.

The ancestor of our modern rice was a grass that grew along the edges of lakes in India, and was similar to a sort found in northern Australia. All Oriental peoples used the seed or grain of this grass, dating back to such ancient times that 3,000 years before the Christian era it was customary for the Chinese emperor and the princes to sow a handful of rice at the beginning of each planting season in honor of the country's chief crop.

America's rice fields are the result of an accident. After failure at rice raising in this country, it happened that a ship from Madagascar put into Charleston, S. C., harbor to escape a storm late one winter day in 1694. The colonists were friendly and when the ship departed the captain showed his appreciation by presenting the governor with a sack of seed rice. And from this accidental start, rice culture in the American colonies spread through the South.

The poultryman who overcrowds his brooder house is likely to be penalized with sick chicks and with birds that are underweight at market time.

Blossom Festival Visitors To Find Special Welcomes

Visitors to the Apple Blossom Festival will find many forms of welcome awaiting them wherever they turn. Port Ewen, Stone Ridge and West Hurley already have announced their plans for Dutch plays, food sales and exhibits of antiques and handmade articles. Mount Marion, Old Hurley, and St. Remy also are planning special events to attract blossom visitors.

Mrs Warren Myer, of Mount Marion, reports that the Mount Marion 4-H Clubs are planning an Apple Blossom dinner, exhibit and dance at the Mount Marion Hall on Friday evening, May 6. An exhibition of the "Big Apple" dance will be a feature of the evening. All 4-H Clubs are invited to this event, for which there will be a nominal charge.

Old Hurley will welcome visitors to the Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival by holding "open house" at DuMond House, called the "Spy House," of which George C. Kent is the present owner. According to Mrs. M. T. E. DeWitt, chairman of the Old Hurley festival committee, Daniel Taylor, the spy, was court-martialled at Little Britain, near Newburgh, and was brought to Old Hurley and kept in the DuMond house over night...The sentence was confirmed in the "Andreuse" or Van Deusen house. Taylor was hanged, in a lane across the road from this last named house. A house now stands on the same site.

The "Andreuse" or Van Deusen house, was built in 1723, before the burning of Kingston by the British. It was the "Capitol" of New York state for a short period, a fact which is confirmed by an historical marker. The house, at the present time, is owned by Mrs Waterbury. It will be opened as a tea room by Mrs. Grace E. Drake and Miss Florence G. Miles, formerly of the House and Garden Tea Room.

The Ladies of the Dutch Reformed Church of St. Remy are planning to have an exhibit of old and modern quilts, handmade bedspreads and other handmade articles. Apple jelly, apple sauce cakes and cookies, and apple pies will also be on sale. Luncheon will be served at any hour during the day. A sign marker at the Ulster Park Reformed Church will direct visitors to St. Remy. Heading the St Remy committee on arrangements is Mrs. Harry Ellsworth.

From 11 a. m. to 6 p. m., visitors in Kingston will be able to visit the beautiful old Reformed Church which was organized in 1659. An "open house" will be held, for which Mrs. William A. Frey is chairman. Members of the Henrietta Wynkoop Guild and the Ladies' Aid Society will welcome the guests, with the following members in attendance: Mrs Frey, Mrs. Charles Tappen, Miss Mary H. Ingalls, Mrs. Floyd Edinger, Mrs. Harry Ensign, Mrs. Cornelia Stafford, Mrs. Robin Stelle, Mrs. Walter L. Steiner, Mrs Cornelius Treadwell, Mrs. William D. Delaplane, Mrs. Charles L Palmer, Mrs. James E. Low, Mrs. Benson L. Miller, Mrs. George W. Van Anden, Mrs. A. Noble Graham, Miss Ella M. Bernard, Mrs. E. Mr. Levy was most instrumental in awakening the interests of the younger group of Poughkeepsie in Jewish civic affairs and the Community Center is a testimonial of his success. The Junior Hadassah, which is a newly formed group of young Jewish women, has the following official personnel: President, Miss Sadye Lutzen; vice president, Miss Sophie Basch; treasurer, Miss Ruth Gramer; recording secretary Miss Claire Reiter; corresponding secretary, Mrs. William Zwick; financial secretary, Miss Sylvia Siller; senior-junior advisor, Dr. Nettie Weintraub; historian, Miss Ruth Stone; cultural chairman, Miss Billie Bohrman; J. ## Mary Pickford Favors Apple Bud Festival in May

Mary Pickford, known to million of movie fans as the "Sweetheart of America" has written the following letter to Roger H Loughran, chairman of the Ulster County Apple Blossom Festival. "An Apple Blossom Festival, what a beautiful idea! To my way of thinking there is nothing lovelier than an apple tree in full bloom. Clusters of shell pink and white blossoms banked with tender green leaves. Of course there is always the robin's nest with the turquoise eggs tucked away somewhere in the branches and near it I can always see, guarding it with wand in hand, a tiny creature with shimmering wings, forcerily an apple tree in bloom belongs to the fairies

"May the proverbial, 'Apple a day which keeps the doctor away' bring Ulster county not only health but prosperity

"Greeting and good wishes to you one and all.'

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) MARY PICKFORD

Apple Recipes From the Nation's Best

(In conjunction with the festival)

Two recipes from Theodore Kieffer, of the Sherry Netherland, and two from Nell B. Nicholas of the Woman's Home Companion are on today's suggested dishes using apples. Kieffer's are first, for Hot Apple with Butter and Apple A La Jefferson.

Hot Apple With Butter

Cut four fine russet apples in quarters, peel and pare them, and range in a well buttered saucepan; moisten with a few spoonfuls of medium thick syrup and the juice of a lemon, cover over with a well-buttered paper, and finish cooking in a slow oven. When done dress on a dish in a circle, and add to the saucepan a little apricot marmalade with some Sherry wine, boil up with the lid on, strain the sauce through a tammy, and pour it over the apples.

Apple A La Jefferson

Infuse a vanilla bean in a quart of hot milk for half an hour, then take it out and set the milk on the fire, drop into it like rain six ounces of farina. Let this boil for a few minutes, then slow down the fire, so that it continues to cook without boiling. Then add to it six egg-yolks, two ounces of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of whipped cream, and two egg-whites beaten to a stiff froth. Butter twelve individual molds, put into the bottom of each a ring of apple and fill the interior of this ring with round piece of angelica. Fill the molds with the above preparation and keep them in a bain-marie for twenty-five minutes, then unmold and dress on a dish. Drain some fine compotes of apple-halves, wipe them well and dress them in a dome center. Cover them over with the apple syrup reduced with sugar and maraschino. Decorate the intersections of the apples with halved fresh skinned almonds and cherries. Lay on the edge of the dish between each mold a brandied greengage and a brandied cherry. Place the dish after it has been decorated in the oven for fifteen to twenty minutes and serve with an apple and kirsch sauce, made as follows: Put three gills of apple pulp into a copper pan with as much water and half a pound of sugar; let boil up once or twice, then strain the sauce through a fine steve and add one gill of kirsch to it.

A Colorful Salad

Combine 1½ cups diced cooked beets, ½ cup sliced apples, 1 cup diced celery, a little minced onion and 2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced. Serve on lettuce with either mayonnaise or French dressing.

Apple Dessert

To 2 cups hot applesauce add 1 tablespoon each butter and lemon juice, ¾ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, and 2 beaten egg yolks. Cool. Fold in 6 stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in buttered and sugared casserole.

PHOTOGRAPHY DO'S AND DON'TS FOR BETTER PICTURES, MORE FUN

YOUR CAMERA THE LIFE OF THE PARTY

A perfect day. John and Sue sparkling like newlyweds—and your picture of them turns out a dud. Why?

Still pose group pictures. Take people off guard if you can. Clever trick to pretend you've snapped, then take them "acting natural" later.

Do faces blur in your snapshots? You're mis-judging distance. Pace out the space between camera and subject—set the focus scale. With a fixed focus camera (no portrait attachment), get no closer than 8 or 10 feet.

Are your landscapes fuzzy as to detail? Use a smaller lens opening to get depth of focus; give 1/25 second or more exposure. Foreground and background will look clear, sharp.

Do pictures of your puppy look distorted—all head? Perhaps you were too close, pointed the camera down. Kneel, hold camera level, snap Towser eye to eye.

Do pictures of your home disappoint you? Taken on a clear day, they look gray and flat? You underexpose. Correct exposure for a bright spring day is 1/25 second. Dark prints are due to overexposure.

Do you wonder why scenes you think will be knockouts turn out dull? Look at each scene with your camera's eye. How will it look in grays, whites, blacks? Will the chief point of interest stand out to your camera as it does to you?

Make every picture a hit. Add to your good times with the pointers in our 10-page booklet, SUCCESSFUL AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHY. Indoor pictures, people, landscape, for all types of cameras.

Send 15 cents for our booklet, SUCCESSFUL AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHY, to Kingston Daily Freeman Home Institute, 109 West 19th street New York, N Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

GOVERNMENT BROADCAST

There is talk lately of a new radio station to be set up, owned and operated by the government. The purpose, it is explained, is to give the government a means of communicating freely with friendly countries, especially in this hemisphere, and combatting the anti-American propaganda of European autocracies in South America. The proposal seems to alarm some of our private broadcasting companies. They fear that, if the government once starts broadcasting with its own plant, it may compete unduly with the private stations. The latter feel that they have been generous in lending their facilities to the government and its representatives, and don't want to see the government getting its foot in the radio door.

Supporters of the proposal reply that the government can be depended on not to abuse its privilege and not to destroy any legitimate radio rights of private enterprise. They also point out that radio broadcasting, because of its essentially public nature and because of the limited number of wave bands, has been treated from the beginning as a business properly subject to public control; that it has always been recognized that private enterprise in this field is permitted by sufferance rather than absolute right; that the government doesn't have to ask anyone's permission to broadcast, any more than foreign stations do. All of which is quite true; but it makes an interesting argument.

SPINACH PREFERRED

The sulphur and molasses that some folks can still remember taking in their youth may or may not have been a helpful spring tonic. Mothers and doctors in those good old days seem to have had faith in the disagreeable concoction, but their successors today are skeptical.

In fairness to the sulphur and molasses prescribers it must be noted that people then had to make a bigger transition from winter habits, diet, clothing and ventilation than we do today. They didn't have the year-round abundance of wholesome fresh fruits and vegetables that we now have. They didn't even have the quantities of excellent canned foods. They doubtless felt the need of something to correct the digestive results of the steady round of meat and potatoes and corn meal mush they had just experienced.

A grocery store display of twenty-seven different items of fresh foods in the late winter is not uncommon in the present decade. Spinach, deplorable as it seems to some people, has its uses and is a pleasant and healthful symbol even in midwinter. It suggests the varied diet made possible by modern transportation facilities, greenhouses, steam heat, and so on. As between spinach and brimstone-and-treacle, who wouldn't choose the former?

TO PRESERVE DEMOCRACY.

What can a private citizen do to help solve national economic problems and defend democracy? An outline for voluntary, constructive action was suggested by the new president of John Carroll University at Cleveland.

"As provision against the passing of our democracy," says the Rev. C. J. Horne, "let the citizen insist upon every protection for a free and honest press. Let the citizen demand open exposure of any attempt to restrict a free discussion of government affairs over the radio. Let the citizen encourage a more active cooperation among such national institutions as organized labor, the Chamber of Commerce, the National Manufacturers' Association and the major industries to correct, themselves, the abuses which their own failure otherwise forces government to control. The more chaotic our economic life becomes, the more it invites government interference."

It is good advice. Too many citizens, thinking they believe in democracy, do not want to be bothered about the work necessary to maintain it. They leave all that to others—politicians and self-appointed leaders—when the responsibility, in the long run, is their own.

HISTORIC CANAL PROJECT

The Federal Government plans to buy the old Chesapeake and Ohio Canal which runs from Washington to Cumberland, Md. The idea is to develop part of it for recreational purposes. Along the route lie historic toll houses, taverns and interesting old locks. The property includes a right-of-way for a highway from the Lincoln Memorial in Washington to Gettysburg, via Harper's Ferry.

Legend says that George Washington did the surveying for that canal. At any rate, he originated the project, seeing the advantage of making the Potomac navigable from tidewater to Cumberland and connecting it by common roads and portages with the tributaries of the Ohio River west of the Alleghanies. This plan was delayed by the Revolutionary War and later by other obstacles. Construction was not begun until 1828. It was finished in 1850. It was never a financial success and finally was used only for hauling coal.

It should be possible to make an attractive recreation area of the region, with fishing, boating and swimming, much pleasant scenery, hiking and motoring. If the ancient buildings are well restored and maintained, the whole group could become a fascinating historic monument.

TO PREVENT CANCER.

Last year a band of determined women—The Women's Field Army—organized a campaign to tell all the women and men two things, (a) that cancer is a fatal ailment untreated, and (b) that "cancer is curable" if discovered and treated in its early stages.

So successful was last year's campaign that many cases of women have been reported who discovered they had cancer after receiving the army's message, or, quite as important, who in finding they did not have cancer were freed from months and even years of former secret worry.

That the determined effort of this army of women to save the lives of women, and men also, made a deep impression on thinking men and women is proven by the enactment of the National Cancer Institute Bill of Congress, the founding of the Chicago Tumor Institute, and the establishment of the Child's Foundation at Yale.

Dr. Thomas J. Parran, Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, states that last year's work of the Women's Field Army was of enormous value in preparing the way for enactment of legislature which brought into being the National Cancer Institute.

The slogan of the army, which is the slogan of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, with headquarters at 1250 Sixth avenue, New York city, is "Fight Cancer With Knowledge." "Seventy thousand lives might be saved each year if every man, woman and child knew the following 'painless' signs of early cancer and, when they appeared, promptly visited a competent physician. These signals may not mean cancer but they most certainly should lead to a thorough and immediate examination.

1. Any persistent lump or thickening, especially in the breast.
2. Any irregular bleeding or discharge from any body openings.
3. Any sore that does not heal—particularly about the tongue, mouth or lips.
4. Persistent indigestion, often accompanied by loss of weight.
5. Sudden changes in the form or rate of growth of a mole or wart."

This is a voluntary army made up of women who first pay a one dollar membership fee and then by every means try to spread the above knowledge that will save thousands of useful lives to free thousands from a needless worry.

Neurosis.

Are you worried about an ailment that you don't have, bothered by "symptoms" or pains that medical tests do not reveal? Send for Dr. Barton's tremendously interesting and helpful booklet entitled Neurosis, explaining how the cure of ailments is accomplished where none apparently exists. Send your request to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd street, New York, N. Y., enclosing ten cents for each copy to cover cost of service and mentioning the name of this newspaper.

The Boxwood Barrier

By BLANCHE SMITH FERGUSON

The Story So Far: As the wedding of aristocratic Judith Goodloe begins, three people are torn with conflicting emotions. Loving someone else, Judith is marrying Reuben Oliver—self-made man and outsider—for his money. Desperately in love with Judith, Reuben blindly refuses to realize that his fortune is evaporating. And Cissy Rogers, maid of honor, loves Reuben. In her hand is the telegram confirming his bankruptcy. Shall she give it to him, and stop the wedding?

Chapter 18

For Richer Or Poorer

"I, REUBEN, take thee Judith—" his voice was steady— "to be my wedded wife—"

Cissy shut her eyes. She had come to the end of the world—

Judith's eyes were open very wide. They did not focus on any one object. She felt a tremor pass along Reuben's arm on which her hand rested.

"He's taking it terribly seriously," she tried to feel more solemnly impressed herself.

She was strangely apathetic. She made her responses in a clear voice—"I, Judith, take thee Reuben . . . for richer or poorer . . . until death—"

"Until death!" That had an ominous sound! With the swiftness of lightning tearing across a summer sky, apathy deserted her. It was like coming alive in the midst of one's own funeral—only it wasn't her funeral—it was her wedding! It couldn't be her wedding. It couldn't be without Gary!

Bishop, palms, Jim—the universe went swinging round like a top. Why was she vowing her life away when she wanted to be free? She must have been crazy to think she didn't want to wait for Gary. It was not too late—

Her roving eyes sought an open window—sought escape. Involuntarily she took a step toward it—It wasn't too late.

Beyond the windows—the hedge. A faithful sentinel, standing. The only stable thing in her crazily spinning world. It steadied her. Sanity came back. As long as there were Goodloes there must be boxwood—

She went on with her responses but her hand within Reuben's suddenly went cold.

His fingers tightened over it.

And then the bishop was calling her Mrs. Oliver. Gran was kissing her, and Jim—Cissy was kissing Reuben—standing on tiptoe to do it—and Judith Goodloe was married until she died.

Between one clock tick and another the role she had set herself to play had become utterly distasteful. She wanted to step out of it. Wanted to ring down the curtain—

"The photographer from the Sun—to take your picture, Mrs. Oliver," Dick Blout at her elbow said, "Get a grin on, Rube!"

Mechanically Judith slipped her arm through her husband's. They stepped before the camera. The wedding party formed a semicircle on either side of them.

The curtain could not be rung down—not yet—

It was a wedding after the Goodloe traditions—another golden link to be added to Amanda's chain of memories. If the link had a flaw it was not visible today.

The bride was toasted in rare vintage. Later there would be a supper that was an epicure's dream come true. The bridal cake—home baked and iced by Amanda's own hands—would be cut with a sword worn by a Goodloe during the Revolution, but it was the Virginia Reel, that crowning triumph of every Goodloe wedding that concerned her now.

"On with the dance, on with the dance!" Regal in black velvet and pearls Amanda signalled the orchestra; herded the guests to the lawn. Everyone present, young and old, formed in two long lines. The bride and groom led off, Amanda and Dick Blout brought up the rear. To the tunes of Dan Tucker, Fair You Well My Lady, Turkey in the Straw, they went up the centre, down the sides—

Swing your partners, balance all—
Swing that gal with the waterfall—

'Have To Tell Her'

HAPPY voices took up the tune. Judith smiled down the long line. Her white satin feet trod a gay measure—Her mezzo voice carried clear.

Jim swung his sister around gayly, as Cissy, reckless as a gorgeous pagan princess, started down the center with Reuben.

"How grand you are, Cissy," he smiled down at her, "I'm half afraid to touch you."

His arm around her was bliss. Was torture. She said: "You're pretty swell yourself, old son."

"Thanks! Glad I don't spoil the picture."

She thought: "It's my luck to do that!" Now that she had definitely lost him she wanted to spare him. If only she could destroy the telegram that rested like a concealed bomb ready to explode in the heart of her bouquet. If she only dared to fling it away, but—he had to know—

Reluctantly she dipped jeweled fingers between her chrysanthemums and handed him the yellow envelope: "This came just as you stepped before the bishop to say your little piece."

"More congratulations, I guess." He dropped it carelessly into his pocket.

Cissy breathed a sigh of relief. She did a fancy step as she swung on, saying something witty and appropriate to each partner. If Rube would only forget that telegram until this show was over—

When she met him at the end of the line, his face was terrible.

"Cissy—why in heaven's name did you hold it back?"

She strove for nonchalance: "Did you expect me to stage a melodrama at the altar?"

"It would have been better," tonelessly.

"That's the thanks I get for not breaking up a perfectly good wedding."

He couldn't speak. He felt nauseated and breathless as though an unseen foe had struck him a violent blow over the heart. His feet moved mechanically to the music.

He had to tell Judith—that was his first lucid thought—he had to tell his wife!

"Have to tell her, have to tell her!" The violins wailed it out. The flute carolled it. The drums moaned it: "Have to tell her—"

Then came another thought more terrible. If he hadn't been a coward—a dishonorable coward, he would have told her weeks ago of his precarious position.

"But I thought it would come out all right," Reuben tried to convince Reuben, "I'd have staked my life on the Lulie Justis. I was sure—"

From somewhere within him a voice jeered back: "You were not sure. You were afraid—"

A servant touched him on the shoulder. "A long distance call, sir."

Lost Opportunity

HE WALKED straight towards the nearest door. He did not deflect his course one inch. He resembled a sleep-walker. The dancing couples got out of his way. Afterwards they remembered. Spoke of it! Now—they got out of his way—missing steps to do it—"Swing your partners—balance all—"

Not until the reel was over did he get a chance to speak to Judith. "Can you give me a minute Mrs. Oliver?—" The first time he had called her that.

He led the way to the deserted breakfast room and closed the door. He felt like a deserter facing a firing squad.

"Judith—" His tongue stuck to the roof of his mouth. He was unable to go on.

Outside the twilight had deepened from rose, to mauve, to misty purple. A new crescent moon was swung high. A string of colored lights that stretched across the lawn was suddenly switched on. They made a rainbow spot of light upon the wall; upon Judith's questioning face.

"Yes, Reuben?"

"If I didn't have to tell you—" He stifled a groan and looked unseeingly at the lanterns.

"What?" she prodded when he didn't speak, "If you didn't have to tell me what?"

"I—," he swallowed thickly, "I've lost every dollar—every cent!"

Her eyes, very blue beneath the misty white of her veil, stared mutely.

He raised his voice as though speaking to the deaf. It was a relief to shout it: "I've lost everything—I don't own my shirt."

"Don't roar," advised his wife, "I heard you the first time."

"I wasn't sure," Reuben said.

From the dining room came the sound of many voices. The savory blend of hot bread, fried chicken, coffee— On the lawn the younger people still danced.

Reuben heard Judith saying as from a great distance, "Didn't you know?"

"I thought I could stave off failure, get back on my feet—"

"When did that," indicating the telegram, "come?"

"Just as we were about to be married."

"I—see."

"Cissy signed for it. Judith—you can't believe I—held this back?"

In the tense silence that hung between them Reuben wondered if he would have held it back, given opportunity? Thank heaven he had not been put to the test for in a revealing flash he knew, undeniably, that Judith was the weakness of his strength, not the strength of his weakness. He wanted to tell her—wanted to shout so the whole world could hear: "I love you, I love you! I was afraid I'd lose you—"

He could not even whisper it! This was his opportunity to level things between them. He let it pass—unwillingly, miserably—but he let it pass. If she had loved him—

YOUR NEW YORK STATE INCOME TAX

By MARK GRAVES,
Commissioner of Taxation and Finance

Personal Exemption

Personal exemptions under New York state's income tax, for which returns must be made on or before April 15, remain the same as those in force during 1937 collection period.

Married persons, living with husband or wife or the head of a family, are allowed $2,500. A single person or a married person not living with husband or wife is allowed $1,000. The statutory allowance for dependents, other than husband or wife, is continued at $400.

Thus, for example, John Smith, an unmarried man is allowed to deduct $1,000 from his net income in computing his net taxable income. Tom Brown, a married man, living with his wife and one child, can deduct $2,500 as personal exemption and an additional $400 for the one child.

Only persons, under 18 years of age, or those physically or mentally incapable of self-support, are considered dependents under out income tax laws.

If a dependent should receive support from more than one taxpayer, exemption may be claimed only by the person who is the chief support, that is the one who contributes more than half of the total.

Tax Rates

No change has been made from last year in the normal rates of New York state's personal income tax.

Taxpayers are required to pay 2 per cent on the first $1,000 of net income, 3 per cent on the second and third $1,000, 4 per cent on the fourth and fifth $1,000, 5 per cent on the sixth and seventh $1,000, 6 per cent on the eighth and ninth $1,000, and 7 per cent on all amounts in excess of $9,000. But, the normal tax shall not be less than 2 per cent of net income as computed without the inclusion of gains and losses from the sale of exchange of real or personal property, not connected with any trade or business.

States more plainly, this means that two computations of net income must be made. First the taxpayer is required to compute his net income, including capital gains and deducting capital losses, and from this sum arrive at the amount of tax at the rate applying to his particular bracket. He must then compute net income without consideration of capital gains or losses, unless arising from business, and figure the amount of tax on this sum at the flat rate of 2 per cent. Whichever amount produced by the two methods is the greater, is the amount which must be paid.

The 1 per cent emergency tax, computed in the same manner as last year, is also due and payable on or before April 15. This levy will be more completely explained in a later article of this series.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

Recent Activities At High School

New Paltz, April 4.—The junior class became the champions in the interclass basketball league when they won over the Sophomores with the score of 42-14. The victory clinchel the title for them since they have already beaten the senior class. On the winning team Edward Schmalkauche, John Chase, Sinagra, Lillberg and Hermance and others stood out while the Sophomores were led by Johnny Longo and Bruce Conklin.

Debating is now in swing at the high school. The team is preparing for the coming league debates of the season. Last week a debate was held against Poughkeepsie High School, from which the locals gained assistance and experience.

The champion ping pong player of Ned Paltz High School is Thelma Whinfield, who defeated Anna Gurovich in the final round of play. In one of the earlier rounds Miss Gurovich had eliminated Margaret Lippert, last year's champion. Thus the champs for 1937-38 are Donald Ten Hagen and Thelma Whinfield. They will receive their awards later in the year.

The varsity baseball team has turned out exceptionally well for practice during the past week. As the schedule stands at present the opening game will be April 26 at Walden, and another game will soon follow with the Raymond Riordan there. Those returning from last year's team are: John Duffy, George Manolakes, Edward Schmalkauche, Carl Lillberg, Sam Hermance, Sammy Sinagara, Johnny Connell, while Clifford Conklin, Axel Johansen and Robert Thomas, members of last junior varsity team, show great promise for this year.

IT'S ODD
But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE.
(AP) Science Editor.

New York — The American Journal of Cancer tells of heavy water jags in mice that partly protected them against cancer—although it caused their premature death.

The experiments, however, showed that heavy water had some effects on cancer that were specific. They were reported by W. U. Gardner, L. C. Strong, James B. Hamilton, Arthur Kirschbaum and Paul H. Barbour, Jr., of Yale University School of Medicine.

The mice had cancer when the water was given to them. They drank the water, so that it presumably distributed uniformly throughout their bodies, and not just in the cancers.

But in these "heavy" drinkers the cancer's growth slowed down by a half; the rest of the animals' growth was not noticeably retarded.

Just why heavy water should retard cancer growth more than natural growth the Yale men say is not known. It may be an effect on enzymes or on osmotic pressure, they feel. Heavy water is only a few per cent weightier than ordinary water. Its effects are not due to the extra weight, but to the heavy hydrogen in the water.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—You can talk to a dozen explorers, travelers, and scientists and not find a more primitively intriguing story than the one Charles Rochester brought back from Hawaii.

This is the one about—not, as you suppose, tropic maidens swimming in blue lagoons—but about birds, the minah birds which flock in the streets of Honolulu just as our sparrows do here.

They live by a strange code of ethics, Rochester says, and when one of them gets in bad he is brought to justice. They hold kangaroo court in the street, and it is a commonplace to see them gathered angrily in a circle, debating the case, while the culprit stands alone and dejected. If they decide he should be punished they peck out his brains. However, if his good name is cleared they fly away happily together.

YOUR correspondent can remember another bird story that deserves a place next to the minah. This concerns penguins, of which it is claimed there is no more curious fowl to be found.

In their Arctic habitat the penguins live on ice-floes. Each morning when they waken they waddle down to the water to take a bath. However, they like to be certain nothing will harm them. So they get together and slowly press towards the edge of the iceberg. Finally one of their number is jostled overboard. If nothing happens to him they all dive in for a swim. But if he disappears, they know a big fish is waiting for his breakfast, so they hurry off to a safer spot.

Question: why doesn't some enterprising cameraman make a motion picture of minahs and penguins? Such a film would clean up a fortune.

THERE is always a couple of new gags born when John Anderson likes a play. For he is more frequently displeased than any critic in New York. Long ago he formed the habit of turning up his nose at the drama, and this year has been no exception. Of 90-odd first nights he has been placated by less than a score.

All of which is by way of explaining this filip overheard in a 45th street cafe:

"He certainly is hard to please," observed a gangling after reading one of Anderson's derisive screeds.

"So tough," agreed his pal, "that when he goes to Heaven and knocks on the pearly gates, St. Peter will say to him, 'You can come in, but you won't like it.'"

Morris Gest, one of the last exponents of the flowing black tie, has finally been won over to the conventional four-in-hand. He was observed thus garbed dining in a midtown eatery this noon.

Christopher's Announcement

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"CAW, caw," cawed Christopher Columbus Crow. "I have news."

"We heard your news the other day," quacked Mrs. Quacko Duck. "You can't fool us again."

"April Fool's day comes but once a year," quacked Mr. Quacko. He was out for a walk and was carrying his best walking stick—a new spring twig.

"April Fool's day comes but once a year, as you say," remarked Christopher Columbus Crow, "but news may come at any time. You never know when there is going to be a piece of news—that's why it is news, I suppose. It is a surprise."

"You can't fool us by your fine talk," quacked Mr. Quacko, and, offering his wing to Mrs. Quacko, they waddled off toward the pond.

"I'm telling the truth," cawed Christopher.

"We hope so," quacked Mr. Quacko, turning around a little, and then continuing with his walk. Mrs. Quacko was saying to him:

"You spoke to him in just the right way, my dear. Christopher is a fine fellow and a handsome crow, but we mustn't spoil him by paying too much attention to what he has to say."

"You'll be sorry you didn't hear my announcement," cawed Christopher after them. "You would have been the first ones to hear it. You could even have gone over and told it to Mrs. Quacker of Quackerville. That should interest you, Mrs. Quacko.

"I'll tell the news to the bears," cawed Christopher. "I see them coming and they'll listen to me."

OFFICE CAT

TRADE MARK REG.

By Junius

Do not condemn the judgment of another because it differs from your own . . . You may both be wrong.

Windy—Would you like an air trip for our honeymoon?

Wally—No, there wouldn't be any tunnels.

The Big Apple is said to have been invented by a fellow with St. Vitus dance, who was stung by a bee

MacPherson—Do you mean to say that Sandy is famous for his after dinner speaking?

MacDougall—Yes indeed! He always manages to be speaking on the telephone when the waiter brings the check.

Correct this sentence: "Dictators hide the truth from the people" said the statesman, "but in this free land we tell them everything."

Mother—Marilyn, were you a good little girl at church today?

Marilyn—Yes, mother dear. A man offered me a big plate of money and I said, "No, thank you."

Did you ever notice how lucky the business man always is who attends strictly to his business and gives everybody honest weights and measures? Some people are just born that way.

College Boy—Give me a bottle of liniment and a bottle of furniture polish.

Druggist—What in the world are you going to do with that combination?

College Boy—Well, my room mate has rheumatism in his legs, and one of them is wooden.

A horse chestnut is not a chestnut; grapefruit is not related to grapes; pepper-grass is not grass; calla lilies are not lilies; a pineapple is neither a pine nor an apple; asparagus fern is not a fern, and alligator pears, have no affinity with either pears or alligators.

Dude Ranch Vacationer—Why is it that old hog keeps trying to come into my room? Do you suppose he has taken a fancy to me?

Little Willie—I don't know, but that's his room during the winter.

Got Yours Yet?

The new seed catalogs
Are gaily tinted;
Finer vegetables
Were never printed.

Christine—What sort of a fellow is Jefferson Clevenger?

Margaret—Well, he was over to see me last night, and when the lights went out, he spent the rest of the evening in the basement trying to repair them.

My Village Home! ! ! !

Outside, the night is dark and chill,
Inside by fire is all aglow;
Inside, there's quiet, hushed and still,
Far off, the city noises flow.
Outside, there's tumult, hate and strife,
Inside, there's joy, and love, and peace;
I'm thankful, Lord, for village life,
I pray that it may never cease.

It is when your are sick enough to be scared that you realize which things are really important . . .

At least you can go into a restaurant during the winter months without having them bring you a tall glass of something with a slice of lemon hanging on the side.

MEL KOONTZ—FAMOUS HOLLYWOOD ANIMAL TAMER—WRESTLES WITH A FULL-GROWN LION!

HERE'S MEL KOONTZ alone in the cage with four hundred and fifty pounds of lion. The huge lion crouches—then springs straight at Koontz. Nerves cool as ice, Mel meets the charge head on. Man and lion clinch. Onlookers feel their nerves grow tense. But Mel is master of the beast. No doubt about his nerves being healthy! And, as Mel points out, one big difference in Camels has to do with healthy nerves. Mel says: "No matter how many I smoke, Camels don't frazzle my nerves."

"I'll say it makes a difference to me what cigarette I smoke"

says MEL KOONTZ to PENN PHILLIPS

"I guess you have to be particular about your cigarette, Mel. I've often wondered if Camels are different from other kinds?"

"Take it from me, Penn, any one-cigarette's-as-good-as-another talk is the bunk. There are a lot of angles to consider in smoking. Camel is the cigarette I know really agrees with me on all counts. My hat's off to 'em for real, natural mildness—the kind that doesn't get my nerves ragged—or make my throat raspy."

PEOPLE DO APPRECIATE THE COSTLIER TOBACCOS IN CAMELS

THEY ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA

AFTER MEL KOONTZ had been schooling tigers for a new movie, Penn Phillips got to talking with him on the difference between cigarettes. Koontz gives his personal slant on the question, above. And millions of other men and women find what they want in Camels. One smoker tells another: "Camels agree with me—all around!"

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic.

ONE SMOKER TELLS ANOTHER... "Camels agree with me"

"WE CHOOSE CAMELS FOR OUR OWN SMOKING. WE KNOW TOBACCO"

—SAY THESE TOBACCO PLANTERS

"I know the kind of tobacco used for making various cigarettes," says Mr. Beckham Wright, who has spent 19 years growing tobacco—knows it from the ground up. "Camel got my choice grades last year—and many years back," he adds. "I'm talking facts when I say Camels are made from MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS."

Mr. George Crumbaugh, another well-known planter, had a fine tobacco crop last year. "My best yet," he says. "And the Camel people bought all the choice lots—paid me more than I ever got before too. Naturally, Camel's the cigarette I smoke myself. Fact is, most planters favor Camels. So I know that Camels use finer tobaccos."

"I've grown over 87,000 pounds of tobacco in the past five years," says this successful planter, Mr. Cecil White, of Danville, Kentucky. "The best of my last crop, and that of other local planters, went to Camels, as usual. And at the best prices, as it so often does. I stick to Camels. I know I'm smoking choice tobaccos."

Cunningham Talks At K.ofC.Breakfast

the spur of the moment by Mussolini to combat the Leninist movement in Russia. There would be no Fascist movement if it were not for Communism. Kill Communism and Fascism dies instantly.

"Communism and Fascism are the menace of the hour, and these are the days when Catholics should think clearly and accurately. The time for action is here. The Catholic has to distinguish the true from the false in the news of the day. We are vitally concerned in the news from the old world.

Source of News

"The source of the news is the press of the country. It comes from two sources; from France and England. That means that the news you read in your newspapers in the country is tinged with the red background of France and in the news from England the reader should not forget that England has never had any foreign policy except the perpetration of the British Empire.

"Who stole the natural rights of the small peoples?" asked the judge and answered his question by saying that only 39 years ago when England wanted to obtain the diamond mines of southern Africa she stirred up a war with the little Boer republic. "Fifteen years ago she sent the Blacks and Tans into Ireland to shoot and kill. This is the England that today is upset by Hitler's march into Austria. I am depressed to see what is going on in Austria; I was there some years ago myself, and I do not like to think of the country being ever-run with the goosestepping Prussians. But there is one thing to be said in palliation of what Hitler has done he has united German to German.

"Where moral issues are concerned is it any wonder that I do not want to accept France's and England's versions of the news of the old world, and that is why the Catholic today should scrutinize closely the source of his news.

"Then at home he will think on the subject of government as an American first and a partisan last. In this day partizanship is a curse. Here we are with 22,000,000 Catholics in this country who are not united and who stand idly by and watch the progress of Communism which has made more material gains here than anywhere else in the world.

"The colleges are ripe with the theories of Marx, and millions of students have adopted socialism. What is this movement in non-Catholic colleges against war? It is a Communistic program to disarm America and yet there are thousands of dupes in this country who join the League Against War and Fascism, an organization formed for the sole purpose of carying out the Communistic program.

Catholic Strength

"Out of a population of approximately 125,000,000 there are 22,000,000 of us and it would seem we ought to have some influence on the trend of affairs. Have we? The best way is to compare us with the 3,600,000 Jews in this country. We Catholics are mostly of Irish descent and we like to brag about our fighting qualities as we gather at St. Patrick Day celebrations, but if you want to see a real fighting race look at these 3,600,000 Jews and then form your own opinion. They control the radio, the movies and the newspapers. Year in and year out you get the Jewish trend on the news.

"If a Jew's toes are trod on in any part of the world there is a big rally held in Madison Square Garden in New York to demand that the Jewish rights are defended. Today the Jews are not persecuted in Germany on religious grounds, but on racial and business grounds. How about the thousands of Catholics incarcerated in jails in Germany on account of religion. Have you heard of any Catholic rallies to protest? You do not know the potency of protest. I take off my hat to the Jew.

"I am not interested in politics. I don't care if we have a Catholic candidate for president or if we never have one. I don't care how many in the high places of government bear the label of Catholic. I am interested only in leadership that will preserve the rights and liberties guaranteed under our constitution. I was in Mexico last summer. The churches were open then and are now open, but they were not opened with the aid of American Catholics. It was our own government back in the Wilson administration which placed the power of the United States back of a dictator, and what that administration started has been perpetrated by succeeding administrations in backing one dictator after another in Mexico until today we have seen a dictator spitting in the face or our government.

Resolution Wasted.

"While Catholic priests and laymen were being murdered in Mexico our Catholics took no decided action in the matter. Yes, I know that the Knights of Columbus adopted a resolution addressed to Washington, but it was thrown in the waste paper basket, but if the same condition had happened to the Jews you would not have heard the last of it.

"We have seen the spectacle of a Knight of the Klan placed on the highest court in the land, and not a word of apology or explanation has been offered to the Catholics by the one who placed him there. In New York city the mayor appointed an anti-Catholic lecturer in office and an avowed Communist to a position of trust and a governor of New York state, in spite of the petition of Catholics and the American Legion, has refused to sign a bill that would prohibit an avowed Communist from holding office."

Judge Cunningham in closing said that he had tried to point the lesson. "The remedy was with ourselves. Let us protect our constitution and our rights and liberties under the constitution. We should not forget the power of protest, and we should not forget that eternal vigilence is the price of our liberty."

District Deputy Mahoney called attention to the fact that the Knights of Columbus was established in 1882 and that the Order the past week had been celebrating Founders' Week. He urged that a drive be made to increase the membership in the council.

Father Roth, chaplain of the order, said he would speak a few words on the tyranny of the fixed idea, and said that as Americans we should protest against any program that would rob us of our liberty which we as Americans have the right to enjoy." He said that the Catholics had read with regret of the rejection of the bill offered which would debar a professed Communist from holding public office. "This bill," he said, "had much in its favor. He said that "in some of our public schools a teacher leads her class in assembly in pledging allegiance to our flag and then in the school room teaches that no one should be forced to carry arms in defense of the flag."

The Communion breakfast was one of the most successful ever held by the Knights of Columbus and was attended by over 300 men.

For Greater Highway Safety

In an effort to help stem the constantly rising tide of automobile accidents, the Richfield Oil Corporation of New York is devoting its entire advertising campaign for the spring and summer of 1938 to the cause of greater highway safetey. In every advertisement motorists learn that the two most important factors in avoiding accidents are "brakes that stop quickly, to keep out of trouble and gasoline that starts quickly, to get out of trouble." Another important part of the campaign is the free distribution of safety books at Richfield stations.

$50,000,000 IN USED CAR SALES IN ONE WEEK!

There was a Big selling job to do and

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING DID IT

Early in 1938 the automotive industry had a major problem on its hands. Production was off. New car sales were low. Prospects for Spring, normally the peak season in automobile sales, were discouraging.

The underlying cause of all this was that the automobile dealers had too many used cars in stock . . . for dealers can't sell new cars when they are overburdened with used cars.

The problem, therefore, was to sell the used cars—and to sell them fast.

To solve the problem the automobile manufacturers of the United States called upon the selling power of newspaper advertising. They instituted a National Used Car Exchange Week, March 5 to 12. They appropriated $1,250,000 for one week's advertising. They invested the bulk of this money in newspaper space throughout the country. They enlisted the active cooperation of the automobile dealers.

And what happened? In one week's time $50,000,000 worth of used cars were sold. Dealers' used car stocks were greatly reduced.

In some cities the week ended with a shortage . . . and dealers began to advertise that they wanted to buy used cars.

And that's not all. The used car campaign in newspapers caused an immediate increase in new car sales; cleared the way for still greater sales for Spring; pointed to a definite upturn in car production; put new life in the automotive industry; brought millions of dollars into circulation.

What does it all mean? It means one more dramatic and convincing proof of what has been proven so many time before: When there is a real selling job to be done, newspaper advertising can be counted upon to do it . . . quickly, tangibly, directly, economically . . . for automobile advertisers, or for any other advertiser.

Christadelphians Attended Meeting

Eleven members of the Christadelphians of the Christian Endeavor Society, representing the First Presbyterian Church on Elmendorf street, traveled to Highland on Friday evening to attend the youth conference of the Presbytery of the North River which was held at the Highland Presbyterian Church. The Rev. William J. McVey and Frank Hill also made the trip.

Assembling at the dinner table, the Rev. Devello Haines, of the Highland Church, introduced the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Claude McIntosh of Marlborough, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Cameorn Mosser, of the Calvary Church in Newburgh, and William Swartz, chairman of the youth conference. The Rev. Frederick Thorn, secretary of the Young People's Board of National Missions, showed motion pictures of a recent trip to the Pacific Coast.

Before the pictures, the Rev. Mr. Thorn said a few words in respect to the oncoming photos. He said that the first group of pictures delved into the work accomplished by a graduate of Debuke University. A star football player by the name of Derkley was offered a position of going as a missionary to a small reservation for Indians in Arizona. Derkley knew he had a big assignment to face. Finally, however, he was victorious but only after his health had been badly shaken and as a result a man named George Walker came to take up his work while Derkley went to the Dakotas where a less strenuous position awaited him. Following this description of what was to follow, the Rev. Mr. Thorn displayed pictures of this story which, incidentally was the preview showing of them.

The Rev. Devello Haines then presided at a short business session in the auditorium. The first item was in concern with a Labor Day week-end conference which is tentatively set for Oakwood with sessions on Friday afternoon and evening, Saturday, Sunday and a meeting for Monday morning. The next article proposed by the Rev. Mr. Haines had to do with an organization of united societies which attended this conference in Highland. This plan would permit three or four meetings throughout the year. After the explanation of this, the following were nominated to meet in a group to discuss this suggestion: Shirley Hubbard, Highland; Rosemary Pugh, Pine Plains; Betty Tabor, Milton; Betty Finley, Little Briton; Ruth Schoonmaker, Calvary Church of Newburgh; Roberta Shepherd, Poughkeepsie; Roberta Holley, Amenia; Arthur McHara, Bethlehem; Jack Howe, Pleasant Valley; John Quimby, Marlborough; Joseph Brodi, Union Church of Newburgh, and Irwin Thomas, of the First Presbyterian Church, Kingston.

The following young people represented the local First Presbyterian Church: Elnora Burger, Jeanne DuBois, Dorothy Webster, Dorothy Kopf, Alma Burger, Jack Decker, Harry Flowers, Donald Van Deusen, John Ennis, Robert Maresca and Irwin Thomas.

PREVIEWED

Broadway: "Jezebel." The flaming spirit of the old south breaks into being in the costume feature at the Broadway with Bette Davis rising to dramatic heights as the southern belle who dared convention and whose life was a series of experiences both exciting and troublesome. In a way, this Warner Brothers picture is that studio's answer to the famous "Gone With The Wind" which is now in production at another studio. All the warmth, hatreds, sentimentality and courage of a beaten southland is to be found in this triumph for Miss Davis as the picture's star and excellent support is also given by Henry Fonda, Margaret Lindsay and George Brent.

Kingston: "Bringing Up Baby." The current cinema drive toward crazy comedy productions was never demonstrated with greater or more telling effect than in this wild, hilarious and completely mad tale of a couple of flighty young people who fall in and out of love, fight, break up, and run the gamut of human emotions generally. Katherine Hepburn until now a somewhat staid and exacting actress, lets down her hair in this comedy riot and comes out of all the excitement a radiant and successful slapstick comedian. Also in the cast is Gary Grant whose characterization is a high spot of the film. An RKO Radio offering directed by Charlie Ruggles.

Orpheum: "Boy of the Streets." Poverty and disillusioned youth combine to form a potent drama at the Orpheum in this story of a boy who finds his father is a shifty wastrel and who learns that the revenge of gangland is a swift stab in the back. This production is highly seasoned melodrama with a touch of reality about it and Jackie Cooper is excellent in the starring role. Maureen O'Connor is also in the cast.

Tomorrow

Broadway: Same.

Kingston: "Midnight Intruder" and "When G-Men Step In". Two well done melodramas are to be seen at the Kingston, the first the story of a young man who goes into a deserted house to find murder, romance and excitement hidden therein; the second a cops and robbers thriller that moves along to the rhythm of barking guns. Barbara Read and Louis Hayward are featured in the first number while Don Terry and Jacqueline Wells are the love interest in the associate feature.

Orpheum: Same.

The world is just beginning to realize how modest Kaiser Wilhelm was when he said "Ich und Gott." Hitler has no partner.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS AND SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Among the numerous actresses mentioned for the role of Scarlett O'Hara was Bette Davis, who is now the only candidate who didn't get it and at the same time did get a chance to show what she could have done with it.

"Jezebel" is Miss Davis's opportunity, and while her Julie Marsden isn't exactly Scarlett O'Hara, the two girls are cut from the same pattern—wilful, tempestuous, wily and unscrupulous gals of the Old South.

Miss Davis gives a thumping, strenuous and interesting interpretation of the Scarlett type, malignantly dominating, reckless and unconventional, pitiable and evil.

What It's About

But "Jezebel" is not—as playfully suggested—a Warner Bros. version of "Gone With the Wind." It will take nothing from that picture when Selznick gets around to making it, and it will stand up on its own reelage as an engrossing piece of theatrical fireworks.

Julie is a New Orleans belle of 1853, wild as the colt she rides, delighting in flaunting convention. When her wilfulness loses the love of Preston (Henry Fonda) she comes to her senses, mopes until his return. When he brings back a northern bride, Julie schemes frantically, foments a duel which kills off the wrong man (George Brent) and generally behaves like a hellion. The yellow fever epidemic gives her the chance of redemption, gives the film some memorable scenes.

"Jezebel" excels in capturing a period in southern life, in the caliber of supporting performances—by Fonda, Brent, Fay Bainter, Donald Crisp and Richard Cromwell in particular—and in consistent attention-holding, due in large part to William Wyler's potent direction and (of course) to the star.

Better Than Expected

"Condemned Women" is one of those pictures intended as a Class B program-filler that emerged as something better.

Undertaking to picture life in a women's prison where old strong-arm discipline is giving way to modern psychiatric understanding, the film succeeds admirably until romance intrudes. Louis Hayward as the young prison doctor revives Inmate Sally Eilers' interest in life. Persuaded that marriage to an ex-convict would ruin his career, Sally takes part in an escape plot which results in the death of a matron and a little convict (Anne Shirley) who is taking a rap for her student lover. Recaptured, Sally looks set for a longer stretch until Louis forces revelation that she did it all for love, which seems to settle everything for a happy ending. Despite this unreality, the picture has much tenseness and excitement, drab realism in its prison life, and a sensitive performance by Miss Eilers that might lead her back from the "B's." Lew Landers directed.

"The First Hundred Years" (Robert Montgomery, Virginia Bruce, Warren William, Binnie Barnes) is a light comedy tidbit about a much-in-love husband and wife and their conflicting careers.

Directed by Richard Thorpe, the film kept the preview audience chuckling with clever incident and situation, bright dialogue and generally good-humored spirit.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER

New York, April 4 (AP).—Stocks moved in diverse directions today, with American Telephone exhibiting renewed strength along with rails, while steels, motors and an assortment of other issues dropped.

The telephone leader bounded up more than 6 points at the best, but finally fell back.

The list slipped at the opening on profit selling resulting from the week-end rally. Losses running to 2 or more points later were reduced or cancelled. Dealings were comparatively slow. Transfers running at the rate of about 900,000 shares.

Oppressing steels was the official estimate putting current mill operations at 32.6 per cent of capacity, off 3.1 points from last week. It was the sharpest set-back of the year to date. There had been four consecutive weeks of advance.

Rail loans exhibited strength in the bond division. Grain and cotton futures were inclined to point lower. Foreign securities markets gave ground after an early upturn.

Favored on the belated comeback were Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania, Great Northern, Chesapeake & Ohio, Western Union, Pullman, Cerro De Pasco, Sears Roebuck, Public service of N. J., Douglas Aircraft, Crane Co., and Allied Chemical.

Difficulties were encountered by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Boeing, International Harvester, Kennecott, Westinghouse, du Pont, Johns-Manville, Consolidated Edison, American Can, International Nickel and General Electric. Some of these eventually got back on balance.

Quotations by Parker, McElroy & Co., members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York city; branch office, 382 Wall street.

Security Prices Dropped Last Week

While prices of securities last week dropped to levels of from three to six years ago, the continuing declines for the first four days of the week were attributable not so much to business developments as to the lack of them, combined with events in Washington added to foreign influences. Likewise the rally that marked the last two days, regaining much of the ground lost earlier in the week, was probably due in large part to a change, although temporary, in the situation as regards these political and legal factors.

The week closed with stocks showing good gains for the second day. Total transactions Saturday were 600,000 shares. Industrial stocks showed a gain for the day of 3.09 points, to 106.11 in the Dow-Jones averages; rails were up 0.65 point, to 20.45 and utilities advanced 0.72 point, to 16.58.

Wheat dropped Saturday to new lows for the season as a private crop report suggested a record harvest in the U. S. Cotton futures rose 9 to 11 points, despite unfavorable trade advices and poor demand from Europe.

Generally speaking the looked-for spring uplift is still in the future. There was little of great moment in reports from the steel and automobile industries, except that there was a slight improvement in the miscellaneous demand for steel. Steel scrap brought lower prices and electric power consumption lost further ground.

Car loadings for the week ended March 26, showed an unexpected gain, but it is accounted for largely by the fact that the increased freight rates were to go into effect March 28, and doubtless many shippers anticipated their requirements in order to avoid the higher rate.

There are indications that the U. S. treasury has adopted a new silver policy, looking toward less heavy buying in foreign markets.

The Painters' Union in Cleveland has voted to reduce rates 20 cents per hour and to increase the work day from seven to eight hours. Hope to encourage home owners and builders to do more painting and decorating.

It is stated that the supreme court decision of last Monday upholding registration requirements of the Utility Act, becomes less bearish in its implications as it is more carefully studied.

One commentator says that "It is a fair inference that security prices, at the week's low levels, had discounted both trade conditions and immediate political probabilities."

Three leading New York city banks had earnings for the first quarter in excess of dividend requirements, although behind the like period in 1937.

Hudson Bay Mining had net of $7,490,653, or $2.71 a share last year. Compared with $3,692,975, or $1.34 a share in 1936.

Continental Oil's net of $2.98 a share was a new record and a gain of 45 per cent over 1936 earnings.

'Pride and Prejudice' At K.H.S. on Thursday

MISS DOROTHY MOORE

"Pride and Prejudice," the second production of the Ulster County Theatre Association, will be presented Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Kingston High School auditorium. The play has been in rehearsal for six weeks, and for the past four weeks under the direction of Volney Hampton.

In presenting this play, the association is fulfilling its purpose to produce not only plays of American community life, but also an occasional classic. This play has many qualities which make it of special interest to playgoers. "Pride and Prejudice" shows the clash between the 18th and 19th centuries and the beginning of the independence of women.

The association has made every effort to make the play authentic Weeks of research have been spent on it. Costumes will be exact reproductions of those used in the London production, even to the kind of materials used. Those who enjoyed the picturesque costumes of the current picture "Jezebel" will enjoy the costumes in "Pride and Prejudice." Empire styles featured lace and frills, full, graceful skirts, and elaborate trimming, flowers in the hair and embroidered fans.

David Pennington and Dorothy Moore have the leading roles of Mr. Darcy and Miss Elizabeth. Mr. Pennington portrays a cynical young gentlemen, while Miss Moore, as Elizabeth, portrays a young lady who is well ahead of her times and who has in fact a hard task in reconciling her conservative family to her modernity. Mr. Collins, who is played by Robert Flynn, is an overly confident soul who asks for Elizabeth's hand and takes her emphatic "no" for maidenly modesty. Mrs. Lloyd Nichols is taking the part of Lady Catherine De Bourga in place of Miriam Mann, who is ill. The cast is as follows

Mr. Bennett, Bill Schenlman Mrs Bennett, Marian Byrne; Lady Lucas, Gertrude Helselman; Charlotte Lucas from Cuff Elizabeth Bennett, Dorothy Moore, Jane Bennett, Marie Lyons, Lydia Bennett, Marian Farrell, Mr Darcy, David Pennington; Mr Bingley, William Fitch, Mr. Collins, Robert Flynn, Lady Catherine De Bourgh Lynn Nichols; Hon. Guy Fitzwilliams, Hurland Wilbur, Mrs. Gardiner, Grace Coutant; Mrs Lake, the nurse, Mildred Byrne; Mr. Wickam, James Martin.

Two California Women Slain, Bit Of Hair Is Studied

Van Horn, Tex., April 4 (AP)—A bit of hair clutched by one of two slain California society women was studied by investigators today as they reconstructed the "horrible torture" killings of the tourists in the mountain country of West Texas.

From an autopsy Dr W. W. Walet concluded both Mrs Weston G. Frome, 46, and her 23-year-old daughter, Nancy, were "victims of what must have been horrible torture."

The physicians said the daughter apparently had been ravished but his examination indicated the mother had not been criminally assaulted.

Some jewelry had been stripped from the semi-nude bodies of the Berkeley, Calif., women but other valuables were left behind—puzzling investigators as to whether robbery was the sole motive.

"They had been beaten and shot," Dr. Waite said. "The knuckles of the girls' hands were burned, either with a cigar or cigarette, and the flesh looked like it had been bitten from the forearm of Mrs. Frome. Nancy's right hand had been seared to the bone by flame.

"Some one had jumped on the girl until her diaphragm had been ruptured."

There were marks on her throat indicating she was choked.

Southwestern peace officers, united in one of the greatest searches of the sagebrush country, had only the slenderest of clues—strands of hair in Nancy's clutching fingers, a book of matches and a man's handkerchief from her other hand, and dirt from her finger nails.

The hair was rushed to Austin, Tex., for microscopic examination. Gov James V Allred offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to a solution of the slayings.

Collision on DeWitt Hill

Cars driven by George A Weber of Newburgh, R. D and Marguerite Schwartzer of DeWitt Lake, collided on DeWitt hill, Route 32, about 6 15 Saturday evening Trooper Reilly and Deputy Sheriff McCullough investigated the accident. No injuries were reported.

Held in Double Slaying

Grover Parker (above), alias Kenneth R. Laws, 36, Portland, Me., dairyman, was held for arraignment on murder charges in connection with the slaying in Portland of Miss Alice E. M. Witham, 33, and Ralph M. Flanders, 46-year-old ticket agent. Jealousy was said to have been the cause for the slayings, according to Police Sergeant Harold K. Maguire.

Mother, Daughter Slain

The bodies of Mrs. Weston G. Frome (left) and her attractive 23-year-old daughter, Nancy (right) of Berkeley, Calif., were found near a highway six miles east of Van Horn, Tex., by a searching party which had hunted four days for them. They had been slain, but how it had been done was not ascertained immediately. The bodies were clad only in underwear and shoes.

County Firemen Plan Convention For Ellenville

The annual parade will be held on Saturday afternoon and in addition to the fire departments in the association invitations have been extended to the fire departments of Liberty, Monticello, Port Jervis, Middletown, Newburgh, Walden and Poughkeepsie to participate in the parade.

The parade is expected to be the largest and most colorful to be held in years.

SILK THREAD LINKS AMERICA TO ORIENT

Important Item in Commerce of United States.

Washington, D. C.—The nation's capital recently was invaded in a far flung skirmish of the Sino-Japanese conflict — skirmishers being mainly women in what might be called the "Battle of the Boycott." Advocating a boycott of Japanese silk, Washington debutantes staged a teatime style show entitled "Life Without Silk," demonstrating fashions in cotton and rayon. On the same day, an anti-boycott delegation of Philadelphia silk mill workers paraded in the capital, pleading "Buy silk and save our jobs."

"Whichever view the public holds on the boycott, it has suddenly realized that silk, even in the typically American manufactures of sheer hose or pink and lacy underwear, has an exotic international background," says the National Geographic society.

"In a representative year, 1935, to keep American silk mills rolling and American shoppers silken-clad, the United States imported raw silk, in skeins reeled from the silkworm's cocoon, from five countries: Japan, China, Italy, Switzerland, and Palestine. Other silk producing countries are France, Hungary, Greece, Turkey, Spain, India, and Syria. The United States is the world's largest silk importer.

Undressing the Dead.

"This vast international commerce is supported by a thread—a gossamer filament of super-spider-web fragility, so light-as-air that one pound of it would reach 900 miles. It is obtained by undressing the dead silkworm—unraveling the cocoon which he has patiently spun as a dressing gown to lounge in until the worm turns into a moth and his wings are ready for public appearance. For the silkworm isn't really a worm at all, but a baby moth, a scion of the ancient and honorable family of insects.

"To mistake his identity is natural, for the silkworm comes from a long line of insect magicians. As a climax to his silk-spinning stunt—which is far more astounding than lifting rabbits out of a hat—he can perform the famous 'hidden wing' trick which is a specialty of his family: as a mere hairless cream-colored caterpillar he enters a cocoon with nothing up his sleeve, then emerges as an ashy white moth with a pair of antennae, two pairs of wings, and three pairs of legs.

"Secret of success in the silk industry is to stop his stunt midway. If the silkworm moth is allowed to escape from his cocoon, the thread is broken and the silk almost useless. So he is drowned in boiling water as soon as his silk is spun.

"To most insects, man's reactions are mainly on the angry side, ranging from irritation to murder. Only the bee and the silkworm have been domesticated, and it is hardly his tender bond of friendship with the human race for which the bee is famous. The silkworm, on the other hand, is an honored guest in the home of man, born and bred under the same roof, fed by human hands on his favorite food, and finally he monopolizes his host's attention for constant feeding during 20 hours a day. Then he rewards this hospitality by giving away the very shirt off his back—in other words, his cocoon.

Japan Produces Most.

"In Japan, where three-fourths of the world's raw silk is produced, the silkworm is the most valuable live stock.

"Silkworm culture was kidnaped from China many centuries ago, according to tradition. Each cocoon is about the size and shape of a big peanut shell. It consists of a single continuous thread of silk from 500 to 1,300 yards long.

"The one-worm-power silk mill whose output surpasses man's cleverest imitations starts life in a pink egg which turns gray before it hatches and is so small that it needs the added weight of about 30,000 brother eggs to tip the scales at one ounce. The 'worm' is hatched in an incubator, appearing as a tiny larva no fatter than hairs. Immediately a banquet of mulberry leaves is spread over the wicker tray in which the tiny forms wiggle, and the ravenous munching of invisible jaws is audible.

"After five days of continuous nibbling, the silkworm finds his interior a little too large for his exterior, and seeks the anaesthesia of sleep for his growing pains. During the nap his skin cracks neatly down the back, and he backs out of his discarded jacket and orders a double portion of mulberry leaves. On the sixth, twelfth, eighteenth, and twenty-sixth days of his existence he brings out a new edition of himself. For a final snack before he begins spinning, he devours 20 times his own weight in mulberry leaves."

Morgenweck Dinner Committee

Freeman Photo

Final plans for the testimonial dinner of Frank Morgenweck, ex-Colonial basketball manager, were completed at the meeting presided over by Patrolman Peter Keresman last week in the American Legion Memorial Building, and attended by these representative citizens: (seated) Peter Keresman, chairman of the committee; Alderman Eugene Cornwell, secretary; Eugene B. Carey, former mayor; (standing) Vincent Markle, Warren Smith, Myles Pollock, Charles Tiano, Maynard Mizell, Commander Harry Kirchner of the American Legion, and Harry B. Walker, ex-mayor. Tickets for the testimonial dinner may be procured from any one of these men.

After The Battle Was Over

Track Trials for Maroons Tuesday

According to G. Warren Kias and Loyrne Connick, coaches of Kingston High School's track squad, the first of a series of trials will take place in the rear of the high school on Tuesday afternoon, 100 yard dash, half mile spurt, pole vault, shot-put, discus and the high jump.

In the pole vault event the Connick-Kias combination looks quite strong with Milt Tsitsera, Bill Stahl and Pat Bowers doing good work. The shot-put and discus are well taken care of by Dick "Duke" Decker and Paulie Argulewicz, two giants. During practice Paul has made around the 150-foot mark, Decker 43 feet, six inches. Mike Weiner, last year's captain, will be back for the 100 and 200 yard dashes and also the broad and high jump. Captain-elect Bill Von Essen is tabled for the 110 and the broad jump. Bill Bushnell and Howie Mann, two more stalwarts from the '37 campaign, return for the high jump.

Dart Ball Play-off

Following a chicken dinner at St. James M. E. Church on April 20, the play-off between the Trinity Lutheran dart ball team, headed by Charlie Heldron of the Fourth ward, and the Glenford champions of last year will be played off. It is rumored that the Glenford players will make a desperate attempt to spill the Lutheran players. For some time they have been getting first hand practice in the field by throwing stones at chipmunks.

Baseball Training Camps Preview

(By The Associated Press)

Houston, Tex.—The New York Yankees were still shell-shocked today. They couldn't believe any club could hand them the beating they absorbed yesterday from New Orleans. And their faces were plenty red when they looked back through the spring records and found the 13 runs the Pels tallied against them marked a high for the season.

Bradenton, Fla.—Dolph Camilli, the Brooklyn Dodgers' expensive first sacker, is paying for his belated decision to sign his contract. He hasn't been hitting the size of his collar in exhibition games and so far has not driven in a single run.

Austin, Tex.—As usual, the New York Giants don't have to worry about Carl Hubbell's form, although he was nicked for 12 hits and four runs in five innings by Cleveland yesterday. He reached the fifth before he gave up his first base-on-balls of the spring season.

Governor Vetoes Campsite Bill

shelter along hikers' trails, because each of these open camps is provided with 'a fireplace and any other improvements or conveniences adapted to camping purposes.' Because of the isolated location of the 156 open camps now maintained by the department, the only possible policing is accomplished by forest rangers about once in every week or ten days. Since these open camps are used for transients and are seldom occupied for more than one night by a party, it would be possible to collect charges from only one out of eight or 10 parties. This would obviously lead to endless dissatisfaction when those who paid learned that others enjoyed the same privileges at no charge.

"I sincerely hope this bill will be vetoed."

Bobby Jones in Bright Comeback

Augusta, Ga., April 4 (AP)—A tightly jammed star field, led by the straight shooting Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., headed down the final 18-hole stretch of the fifth annual Augusta National Invitational Golf championship today but the big news was that grand slammer from Jaw-Jub Mr Robert Tyre Jones Jr

To the elation of everyone Bobby made a comeback reminiscent of his world-conquering days yesterday when he breezed over the final nine holes with a record tying 33 to post a third round total of par 72 and a 54-hole tally of 222, just seven shots behind the pacemaking Picard

Foremost of the labelled also rans who rallied was Gene Sarazen, the Connecticut squire Gene began with a 78 Saturday but got a 70 yesterday morning and a great 68 in the afternoon to tie for second, a shot behind Picard.

NEW KIND OF TIRE
GIVES THE QUICKEST NON-SKID STOPS YOU'VE EVER SEEN!

HERE'S THE EVIDENCE
from America's Largest Independent Testing Laboratory!

"Both regular, and also the premium-priced tires of America's six largest tire manufacturers were submitted to a series of exhaustive road tests made over a three months' period by us, to determine their resistance to skidding and wear, with the following results:

"NON-SKID—The new Goodrich Silvertown with the Life-Saver Tread gave greater skid resistance than any other tire tested, including those tires listed at from 40% to 70% higher in price.

"MILEAGE—The Goodrich Silvertown gave more non-skid mileage than any of the other tires tested in its own price range—averaged 19.1% more miles before the tires wore smooth.

"BLOW-OUT PROTECTION—Despite the severe nature of these tests, no Silvertown blew out, or failed from any cause, while two tires of other makes failed."

A. R. Ellis, President
PITTSBURGH TESTING LABORATORY

Wins Hands Down in Competitive Road Tests by Famous Testing Laboratory!

AGAIN Goodrich makes tire history! With a new Goodrich Silvertown that is really two great tires in one! For inside the tire is Golden Ply protection against high-speed blow-outs. And outside is the new Life-Saver Tread that, in exhaustive road tests by the impartial Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory, gave "greater skid resistance than any other tire tested."

How It Works

This tread is actually a road dryer! Its never-ending spiral bars, acting like a battery of windshield wipers, sweep water from under the tire, force it out through the deep drainage grooves—make a dry track for the rubber to grip.

Come in today for a free demonstration that will give you one of the greatest motoring thrills you ever had. Don't miss it, because you'll never know what the word STOP really means until you've felt the grip of this new Safety Silvertown on a wet, slippery road.

No Extra Cost!

Remember, this new skid-protected Goodrich Silvertown also has the famous Golden Ply protection against blow-outs. So you get two great life-saving features—AT NO EXTRA COST!—to say nothing of 19.1% greater non-skid tire mileage—which means you get EVERY 6TH MILE FREE! Don't forget! Make your next set of tires Goodrich Safety Silvertowns.

LIFE-SAVER TREAD WORKS LIKE A BATTERY OF WINDSHIELD WIPERS

Its never-ending spiral bars sweep the water right and left—force it out through the deep drainage grooves. Thus, with Goodrich Safety Silvertowns on your car, you constantly have a dryer, safer road surface for the rubber to grip.

GOLDEN PLY PROTECTS YOU AGAINST HIGH-SPEED BLOW-OUTS

Every New Silvertown has the famous Golden Ply, a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist internal tire heat. By resisting this heat, the Golden Ply gives you real protection against high speed blow-outs.

Comments Made on Freeman Editorials

March 29, 1938

To the Editor of the
Kingston Freeman:

Dear sir:

In reading your editorial "Mexico Celebrates", I think you stressed "the headline news" a little too much. I have just returned from a three weeks' vacation in Mexico and during that time visited, in company with other American tourists, most of the interesting sights in Mexico City and other places.

In all my travels in foreign lands, I have never encountered a more gentle or courteous people. Celebrations are part of the life of the Mexicans. They have them almost daily, or rather nightly, and whatever they celebrate, they generally manage to make it a good show, full of color and beauty.

Sincerely,
CARL ERIC LINDEN

The Editor,
Kingston Freeman,
Kingston, N. Y.

My dear Mr. Editor:

May I take the liberty of expressing my appreciation for your fine editorial of last Saturday, April the second, 1938?

In your editorial you injected that liberal spirit which we hope, is the expression of the people of our free land.

May your fine sentiment echo far and wide, in a land, which we pray will never stoop to make war upon minorities, babies and octogenarians.

Respectfully yours,
(Mrs. F.) Esther Sherry Spodick
